The Frank Lloyd Wright House in Ebsworth Park will celebrate the 150th birthday of America's greatest architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, on Sunday, June 4. In honor of Wright's love of the automobile, Architecture on Wheels will feature an exhibit of classic cars courtesy of the Spirit of St. Louis Region Classic Car Club of America.

Although his interest in automobiles is not widely known, Wright was an avid auto enthusiast and collector. Starting with his first car, a yellow Model K Stoddard-Dayton roadster known in his Oak Park neighborhood as the "Yellow Devil", Wright eventually owned over 80 cars in his lifetime. His collection included a Duesenberg, Jaguars, Crosleys, and Bentleys. Wright was intrigued by both the design of the automobile and its emerging role in American life.

Architecture on Wheels will benefit The Frank Lloyd Wright House in Ebsworth Park, located in Kirkwood, MO. As one of only five Wright designs in Missouri, the unique house is notable for its architectural integrity and original Wright-designed furnishings. Since opening to the public in 2001, the FLWHEP has been visited by over 41,000 visitors and offers educational programs to the St. Louis community on architecture and design.

In addition to the classic car exhibit, guests may tour the house and enjoy lively music and party fare in celebration of Wright's birthday. Individual event tickets are $125.
